Korean 'Sykewar' Employs 'Paper Bullets'; U.N., Reds Use Psychology Regularly

An increasing number of philatelists who have found interest and an increasing number of philateness who have found interest and enthusiasm in Air Post or War Cover collecting have of late devoted at least part of their attention to a very important war-time branch of the air post, AERIAL PROPAGANDA LEAFLETS. These constitute an essential part of modern psychological warfare or "SYKE-WAR," and have had tremendous influence in our two world wars.

For particulars of these war leaf-For particulars of these war leaf-lets the reader is referred to Sec-tion 16 of "The American Air Mail Catalogue" published by the Ameri-can Air Mail Society, Albion, Pa. and to Paul M. A. Linebarger's "Psychological Warfare" published by the Washington Infantry Journal Press

In KOREA "Sykewar" has played a very prominent part right from the earliest days of the North Korean Invasion, and there is available for the collector a very wide variety of propaganda leaflet ma-terial, dropped not only by the Uni-ted Nations forces, but also by the

In addition 'to many millions of leaflets having been disseminated by airplanes, a very large number have been scattered by mortars and artillery shells. So far the writer has seen no detailed official report upon leaflet propaganda, but an official news release at the end of last year indicated that up till then more than 850 million leaflets had been dropped.

It was claimed that psychological warfare was responsible for the surrender of over fifty thousand of the enemy. It would appear there-fore that by now the Korean bat-tle-front will have received well over a thousand million leaflets!

A large number of these are in the form of "Safe Conduct Passes", and bear the signatures in replica of Generals MacArthur, Ridgway, or Van Fleet. An examination of the writer's collection of Korean leaflets reveals the following more important series;-

Series 1000. To North Korean Communist Forces. Safe Conduct Passes and Surrender Appeals; bombing warnings; texts of United Nations Resolutions; Communist responsibility for the continuation of the war.

Group Specializes In Items Relating To Armed Conflict; Membership Is International

In the fall of 1937 a small group of men gathered in New York City to talk over the possibility of organizing a club devoted to the collecting of War Covers. After considerable debate it was decided to organize as the "War Cover Club," seeking to interest all collectors of war covers and those related to wars such as censored, POW. (Prisoner of War), etc.

The dues were set at $1.00 per year plus $1.00 for the official publication "The War Cover Philatelist" which Delf Norona agreed to edit and publish. The first issue Vol. 1 No. 1 came out in January, 1938 and was described as "an occasional publication."

Part of the introduction was as follows, "As its title indicates this publication will be devoted exclusively to propublication will be devoted exclusively to war cover collecting. Stress will be given to U. S. World War Philately, but material concerning the military and occupation postal services of all countries may later be included. The extent to which this will be done, will depend entirely on popular demand, and readers are invited to make their preferences known."

Norona did a wonderful job of gathering and editing the material which came out about every two months in the War Cover Phila-telist. It was indeed a "labor of love" and cost him much in time, labor and money, as the field was and still is limited.

There are many stamp collectors who have as a side hobby the collecting of some type of war covers, such as Civil, Spanish American, Mexican Border, Censored, POW, World War I and II, and now the Korean "police action".

The No. 1 membership in the club was given to the late Milton S. Hunt, who was also elected president and did much to advance the interests of the group. He served as an officer or director until the time of his death. He made a listing of the Military and Naval mark-ings used in the U.S. during WW I and also of the postal markings of the AEF brigaded with the Bri-

The other officers were H. K. Robinson vice pres.; Maxwell Halpern, sec-treas.; and Delf Norona, Albert Weiss and Wm. H. Montgomery as directors.

The Club has had hopes of publishing a Postal History of WW I as that was the first time the Post Office Department had gone right along with the armed forces, and would cover not only the AEF Post-al Service in France, but also the Naval Mail Service the AEF in Siberia and North Russia, postal service in the U. S., stamps, sta-tionery, patriotic covers, etc.

At that time the only book dealing with the World War philatelic history of the U. S. was a forty page brochure compiled by the late Dr. H. A. Coleman in 1932.

At a meeting held in New York in April 1938, the following resolu-tion was adopted. "Resolved that Delf Norona be authorized to pro-Dell Norona be authorized to proceed with his classification system, to be called 'The American Classification System' for listing U. S. World War Postmarks, and that it be adopted by the W. C. C. as official."

This was published as a supplement to the War Cover Philatelist in 1938. Another supplemental edition with prices of AEF material was published in 1941. No other attempt at pricing has been made by the club, either of AEF or WW

At the close of 1941 the War Cover Philatelist was discontinued and the War Cover Club Bulletin was the official publication with Dave Hahn of Pittsburgh as the editor. By this time the club mem-bership had passed the one hundred mark.

However in April 1943 the WCP. was again published by Norona un-Was again published by Northa the til 1944, when it again became the War Cover Club Bulletin which it has continued to be since. It has been hoped that groups in various areas would organize as chapters, and seek to interest others in this field with its many possibilities and its great historical significance. The members living in the N. Y. area, get together living twice a year for programs, swap-ping, looking, talking, and getting better acquainted.

Our membership is scattered all over the U. S., with members in Canada, Great Britain, Denmark, Austria, and Australia.

There are two interesting publications which the club has sponsored and may be obtained from the secretary: one is a type chart of the U. S. Army Postal Service in WW II, 1941-6 and the other is a "Location and Assignment of U. S. Army Post Offices in WW II" compiled by A.J.Tripp.

Every collector of WW II material should have these helpful pubial should have these helpful publications.

While many items are rare, there are thousands of interesting covers are thousands of interesting covers laid away in boxes and trunks just waiting to be discovered by someone who will appreciate them and give them a proper home. With WW II there are two new lines to collect, V mails (regular, overseas, greeting etc.) and propaganda leaflets.

Here is still a comparatively new field for collectors which just screams "history". The possibilities of an interesting and historical collection are almost limitless. COME ON IN—THE COLLECT-ING'S FINE!!!

When thinking of War Cover Collecting, I am afraid most of us confine our interests to the recent World Wars I and II, but how many of us realize that in our membership are included collectors interested in the Mexican War, the Napoleonic Wars, the Boer War, the Spanish American War and, of course, the Civil War with its Patriotic Covers.

If you are interested in starting your own collection of War Covers but want to learn more about our hobby, plan to attend our fall meeting on October 18, ask questions, see some wonderful material, and hear an interesting speaker.

V-MAIL Why Collect It? Arthur K. Hurlburt

What is V-Mail?

V-Mail service consisted of the photographic micro-filming of letters; transporting the rolls of film by air to their destination; and photographing the letters in miniature for delivery

During World War II, the United States Post Office Department in-augurated the use of V-Mail for members of the Armed Forces and their relatives and friends, in order to expedite and insure the safe delivery of mail to and from ser-vicemen overseas and to free much needed cargo space for the shipment of munitions and supplies. The safe delivery of mail was

The safe delivery of mail was guaranteed by holding the original letter intact until a report was re-ceived that the film had reached its destination and a readable print

Are Collectors Interested?

Not many now. Several years ago an attempt was made through articles in the philatelic press to enlist the interest of collectors in making a study of V-Mail material. Forty-eight responded, but only a few were interested in the entire field and some wanted only a few samples to round out war cover collections. Several have since dis-posed of their collections. Thus, it would seem that the field is wide open for accumulation and study.

a collection of this type acceptable to exhibition judges as philatelic material?

V-Mail appears only occasionally at stamp club exhibitions, but when it does, it is examined by many with considerable interest. Recently nine frames of V-Mail envelopes were shown at one of the large stamp clubs and the judges found it worth a blue ribbon as well as an S.P.A. Research Award Certificate.

What does V-Mail offer to the collector?

1. Letter Sheets

(a) Printed according to a required form by both the Government Printing Office and private manufacturers. These bear form and permit numbers and may have slight differences in the type of print shape of flap, etc.

(b) Printed with greetings for various holidays and other special days and also with comic picture and wording.
(c) Address Change Forms printed by the GPO in a variety of forms.

Envelopes
(a) Fifty-two manufacturers were authorized to man-ufacture V-Mail envelopes and this led to a wide variety in cut or "knife", size and shape of window opening, color and imprint.

(b) Return envelopes used to return undeliverable V-Mail letters to the senders. The Army and Navy used different types, but each had a small window opening on the lower right side. When the original envelope was removed and the letter placed in the return envelope, the opening was directly over the name and address of the sender.

Later when the volume of returned mail increased, it

5. Miscellaneous

There are also "targets" used to identify the film pouch labels, etc. which add color and interest to the collection.

At first the letter sheets and envelopes used overseas were made up locally and many interesting varieties may be found. Also in some localities and under cer-tain conditions, postmarks were Airgraph which is quite similar and was used both in Great Britain and in Canada before the adoption of V-Mail here, will give an additional sideline.

How much of this material is available now?

Writing in the February, 1944 issue of Radio News, Lt. Col. E. 1944 Snyder, officer in charge of V-Mail section, says, "At this writing the volume of V-Mail has increased 400 percent since Jan-uary 1, 1943. That means over 25, 000,000 V-Mail letters a month".

The V-Mail section was in operation from June 1, 1942 to October 31, 1945, and the total volume of material must have reached many, many million items. Where is it now? Of course, much has prob-ably been destroyed, but many letters have, no doubt, been preserved.

Therefore, if you were in mili-tary service during World War II or know someone who was, look through your letters or ask your to do so. You may be sur prised at what you will turn up.

The subject of V-Mail has been presented here largely in outline form because space limitation will not permit much detail. A study started several years ago has progressed slowly but considerable data has been accumulated. This includes the classification of envelopes which is nearly complete. velopes which is nearing comple-

Lists of manufacturers and specifications for letter sheets and velopes have been procured and the location of overseas processing stations determined. It is hoped that eventually this data may be presented in booklet form.

However, much work remains to be done and the assistance or inquiries of interested collectors will be welcome.

A.P.O. Covers Of World War II by. L. Willinger

World War II A. P. O. covers had their origins in 1941, and came from the civilian employees of the United States government stationed on the British lend-lease islands off our Atlantic Coast.

The subsequent establishment of U. S. air bases in far-flung geo-U. S. air pases in iar-liung geo-graphic areas resulted in a volume of incoming mail which proceeded to increase with the expansion of American military operations to almost every country and strategic

When hostilities finally ceased, following V-J Day, there were approximately 1200 separate A.P.O's. in operation. Some, because of the enormous volume handled were classified as Base Post Offices

(B.P.O.).

Base Post Offices in operation numbered twenty-five in all, and these were set up at central points to facilitate separation and routing of mail in bulk for troops lo-ing of mail in bulk for troops located in adjacent areas.

Other units established were called Postal Regulating Stations (P.R. S.), and were located at important s.), and were located at important junctions on supply routes. Large quantities of mail were constantly in transit from the B.P.O's. to the troops via these supply routes.

A further function of the P.R.S.

A further function of the P.R.S. was to sort the mail for delivery or pick-up, by the combat forces mail clerks there-by affording these units a complete mail service.

In contrast some A. P. O's. were much smaller, which resulted in an integrificant quantity of mail being

A collector, who in 1941 started to gather A.P.O. covers, and who has continued to pursue this field up to the present time can be expected to possess about 90 percent of all A.P.O's. used during that period. As a specialty, the collection of A.P.O. covers affords the excitement of the search—in the effort to complete all existing numbers. It also affords the interest derived from the great variety of censor markings and cancellation types.

At present, covers from approxi-mately 500 different A.P.O's. are mately 500 different A.P.O's. are relatively easy to obtain. Beyond that number, additions become progressively difficult to locate. The scarcity of several A.P.O. number covers can be attributed, not only to the factor previously mentioned, but also to the length of time which a particular A.P.O. was in operation.

Among those of "short-life" was A.P.O. number 669 — Churchill, Manitoba, Canada—which was in operation for a period of only five months (July to November 1942). No doubt this was the location of a weather observation or radio relay station with but a carelle are lay station with but a small com-plement of men and a correspond-ingly small volume of outgoing

At this late date, and as may be expected, the original recipients of AP.O. mail during World War II have either destroyed or otherwise disposed of the covers which they received. Consequently, the possibilities of obtaining any covers through such a source is quite

A leisurely perusal of the accumulated "odds and ends" of your lavorite local stamp dealer, will usually bring the reward of finding one or more of the covers ing one or more of the covers which you seek. Of course, the number which you do find will depend upon the size of your own collection. As your collection expands, the number of covers obtainable in this manner will continue to decrease.

Auction sales have proven to be an excellent source of this type material. Invariably a box or lot of covers will be listed among the liems offered. It would be to the advantage of the serious A.P.O. cover collector not to everlook this cover collector not to overlook this

The historical value of all, and the apparent scarcity of some, coupled with the varieties thus far discovered, have provided a fertile field for the specialist. In the light of interest shown thus far, World War II A.P.O. covers can be expected to show an appreciable gain in value corresponding to the growing demand. ing demand.

German Set For Mankind Helpers

From the German Federal Republic on October 1 will come a set of four semipostals honoring a like number of "Kelfer der Menscheit" (Helpers of Mankind) according to Whitfield King & Co. of Ipswich, England.

Honored on the 4 plus 2 pfennig is Elizabeth Fry; Dr. Carl Sonnenschein on the 10 plus 5pf; Theodor Fliedner on the 20 plus 10pf; and Henri Dunant on the 30 plus 10pf. Elizabeth Fry, 1780-1845 (an Englishwoman), was the daughter of a Quaker banker of Norwich and married Joseph F. Fry, also a Quaker. Her life was devoted to bettering the conditions of those who vices and talked to the prisoners.

Eventually he opened his own garden as refuge for discharged female convicts. He then turned to care of the sick and poor and in 1836 began the first deaconess house hospital at Kaserswerth. This establishment gave Florence Nightingale fruitful ideas in provision of nursing. Fliedner founded various other charitable institutions in many countries, totalling over 100 in all.

Henri Dunant. 1828-1910 (a Swiss).

Henri Dunant, 1828-1910 (a Swiss), was the founder of the Red Cross. Having witnessed the suffering of the wounded at the battle of Solferino in June 1859, he urged the formation of voluntary aid societies with a permanent centre for looka German protestant divine and ing after the wounded in war time, philosopher. He visited England in As a result of his efforts an international conference was held at Geneva in 1863, attended by dele-gates from sixteen European countries. In 1864 at a diplomatic conference, the first Geneva Convention was signed.

Also according to Whitfield King & Co. a 5fr stamp was added to the definitive series on September 25 by Liechtenstein. Designed by Ferdinand Lorber of Austria and printed in the Austrian State Printery, the design pictures the Castle of Vaduz.

In the $4.80 stamp of the recent decimal currency issue of Virgin Islands there is an error in the spelling of Virgin Gorda Island, which is spelled "Virgin Corda". It seems however that it is improbable that this error will be corrected by the time the issue bearing the Queen's portrait appears.

Much has been written about United Nations stamps and there is some ground for the belief that the stamps are not exactly what postage stamps should be.

Perhaps the best way to determine the status of these stamps is to quote the agreement between the United Nations and The United States Post Office Department. We therefore use space in this issue of Linn's Weekly Stamp News to quote this agreement, please read it and then judge for yourself as to the status of these stamps. In Section One of the agreement we learn that the United States Post Office. We also learn that the office will offer service comparable with the services offered in any other United States Post Office. In Section Two we learn that the United Nations shall supply at its own expense all necessary stamps, and stamped paper to be sold at the United Nations Office. Also that no United Nations Stamps shall be retained by the United Nations Post office. That all of these stamps shall be provided by the United Nations at their expense. That all revenue received from the sale of these stamps shall be retained by the United States Post Office as full and complete compensation for the service it renders and also that the United Nations may operate a Philatelic Agency for the sale of United Nations stamps and that so long as stamps sold through this agency are held by collectors that the United Nations Post Office, then the United Nations may pay to the United States Post Office Department a sum of money equal to the face value of stamps so used.

This Section Three therefore tells the story. So long as the stamps are bought, either at the Post Office or from the United Nations Philatelic Agency and are used for postage they are regular postage stamps, but if you buy stamps from the Agency, put them in your collection, then they are not (?) postage stamps for they have no postal value UNLESS USED.

This is indeed a funny situation. Red Cross Christmas seals are just as real so long as you have Unused United Nations Stamps, only difference is they do not cost so much, but in effect they are just as real as United Nations Postage Stamps as they are not recognized as of any value by the operators of the Post Office unless used for postage.

nized as of any value by the operators of the 1055 of the for postage.

The remaining Sections of the Agreement throw further light on the operation of the office but are rather immaterial in determining the status of the stamps.

on the operation of the office but are rather immaterial in determining the status of the stamps.

However, if you read and digest them you will find that this United Nations—United States Post Office should be the most profitable one that Uncle Sam operates, for in this office, all stamps, supplies, cancel devices etc. are supplied free to the United States Post Office and therefore the office should rank as the most profitable United States Post Office in these United States.

Now that you have the facts you can make up your own mind as to the exact status of these United Nations Stamps. To us it looks as though the stamps are labels until used, unless perhaps you buy them from the United Nations-United States Post Office window, in which event they would not have come from the United Nations Philatelic Agency and would therefore be acceptable for mailing and the Agency would not have to recompense the United States Post Office for stamps so obtained. But if you have unused stamps how can you tell by looking at the stamps whether they are stamps bought through a United Nations-United States Post Office window or whether they are stamps bought from the United Nations Philatelic Agency?

Hiding Their Light Under A Bushel

I only recently happened to pick up the May 1952 issue of the Collectors Club Philatelist and read the editorial by Mr. Henry M. Goodkind. The above caption to this story was my first reaction. You have all heard of the man who hid his knowledge under a bushel healest.

You have all heard of the man who hid his knowledge under bushel basket.

It appears to me that this is what happens with this editorial in the May issue of the CCP.

The editorial is in two parts, a part by Major Antony Walker who was formerly editor of Stamp Collecting of London and if I am not mistaken is this not the man who was let out of his job because he was too outspoken in his ideas about how to collect stamps and the publishers feared that his writings would hurt their advertising take. Then there is the part of this editorial by Mr. Goodkind which speaks very plainly about the facts of stamp collecting as practiced here in America.

This editorial is printed in a paper which has so little circulation that it will do very little good in offsetting the points complained of. It should be spread broadcast to all collectors. It tells a truth which every sound stamp dealer should recognize and a truth which every sound stand, should support.

We have always maintained that with the average collector who has money to spend, if interested in stamp collecting in the proper manner, he will spend what he has to spend on some stamps. Why not try to guide him and see that he spends the money on sound stamps, on stamps that he will have some chance of on sound stamps, on stamps that he will have some chance of cashing in on in the future.

It is just as easy and just as profitable to do business with him that way as to take his money for trash which will have no future.

Mr. Goodkind attempts to blame the Philatelic Publications for most of the present situation but it would be suicidal for any single publication alone to attack the situation as thoroughly as it need be attacked. Our belie! is that the stamp dealers are chiefly to blame for the present situation and so long as they are content we do not believe the situation can be alerted.

Some help could be given however if the editorial to which we have referred were reprinted in every stamp paper and if the Stamp Dealers Association would seriously study and consider the remarks made by Messrs. Walker and Goodkind.

GENE'S ... Warren, O.

By CARL P. RUETH

I believe it should be revealing to you as it was to me, the tremendous scope there is to War Cover Collecting. As you have seen from page one, this edition has been sponsored by the War Cover Club.

Someone searching for a fascinating field dripping with history in the making can hardly do better. But it is at once obvious that the light-hearted, the non-persistent and the non-courageous aren't going to do so well in it for it takes the opposite virtues.

It will take some digging and some circulating among collectors and dealers for items to add to the collection—with probably just as much among friends who possibly had overseas correspondence in any

So unless you are a hard shelled introvert there is the additional pleasure of mixing with people.

Of the many facets in this field there are two which seem to have the makings of highly desirable ma-terial – and I make that statement as if looking back from 80 to 100 years in the future.

Both are from World War II. One is APO and related military post-marks, the other is V-Mail. In the Civil War of around 90 years ago there were many postmarks which have since become greatly sought. And, if in place the tremendously popular Civil War "Patriotics" you think of World War II V-Mail, you will get the idea.

In each case the Patriotics and the V-Mail are peculiar to their era. Both were plentiful, colorful and easily obtained—the V-Mail items still are. A comprehensive V-Mail collection 80 years from now will be quite a piece of property, but of course the present day originator will not be able to cash in on

While it would probably be a thankless task and one which would bring neither fame nor fortune, angel is needed to finance all that can be learned and subsequently written on the subject. At least if done carefully and comprehensive-ly there would not exist the blind spots which currently are known in the Patriotic Cover field.

1. Which of the current regular Presidential postal series is the only stamp which did not have a first day of issue in Washington, D.C.? Where was it released? Where was it released?

2. The Oregon Territorial Centennial commem had a first day of issue July 14, 1936 in five different states. Name them.

Put me down as being among those who believe the Engineers and the Fighting Fillies (Women In Armed Services) stamps are mighty fine examples of stamp art.

The Post Office Department came through in a roundabout way with the answer to a question here a few weeks ago. They for a long while limited the quantity of covers an individual could service on a first day to ten. I wondered in print why recent news bulletins from the Department did not mention such a restriction.

In the bulletin announcing the Red Cross stamp for November 21 it is stated that "a reasonable number" can be serviced by any individual. The interpretation of "reasonable number" is going to be funny to everyone but the postmaster of the first day city!

How would you like the forth-coming Red Cross commem with a red border and cross and the rest of it blue? No color was announced for this item as yet, but

There are two plates of the 4c Presidential series which are going to earn a "scarce" classification. This inforation is gained from the just received Post Office Department Bulletin which gives a re-sume of Plate Activity at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.
They are numbers 22819 and 22820. First certified on December 23, 1941 both were also withdrawn from further use the same day, August 28, 1952. Simple arithmetic will indicate that these plates have been in the vaults for almost eleven years.

For No. 22819 the total number of impressions it made is 36,548; for 22820 46.549.

Readers can gather two thoughts from this report. One, that there are modern day scarce items even of a stamp printed in the hundreds of millions and generally available to all. And two, that such scarcity is more apt to happen among the regulars than the commems al-though the latter is the more popular branch.

The report shows that another of the NATO plates has been retired after 379,393 impressions. It is No. 24640. Eighteen NATO plates were certified originally.

A reader who has either a short memory, or wasn't interested in stamps in 1948 complains that so many of the various commems that year are poorly centered. That was the year of the great philatelic flood.

The complaint is not so true of the earlier issues that year, but for the later ones, heavenhelpus. The Post Office Department was forced to issue so many commems, and I use forced advisedly, that there was only concern for produc-tion of the scheduled items, and not quality.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing does the actual printing of of the stamps on orders from the POD. A lot of the care ordinarily given to production just couldn't be given, and many of the sheets of stamps which would have been de-stroyed for poor centering by the inspectors were allowed to pass through to the post offices.

The A.E.F. In Siberia

C. D. Brenner

The best account of the postal service of the American Expeditionary Force in Siberia (1918-1920) that has been published is the chapter on this subject by H. M. Metzger in the H. M. Sanford's "The Mail of the A. E. F.," Federalsberg, Md., 1940. Since the appearance of this account a certain amount of new information has come to light which it is proposed to present in the following article. The fact that new information and new types of postal markings continue to turn up is sufficient indication that we have not yet had the last word on this particular subject.

The objectives of the Allied Expeditionary Army sent to Siberia were the protection of the stores of supplies accumulated in Vladi-vostok, the restoration of the Trans-Siberian Railroad, and the rescue and support of the Czechs. The latter, most of them ex-prisoners of war from the Austrian Army, had fought in Kerensky's last offensive against the Bolsheviks.

During the winter of 1917-1918, they held their organization together and brought it up to a total strength of 40,000 men. In May, 1918, they started to travel by train 1918, they started to travel by train across Russia and Siberia with the ultimate aim of being transported across the Pacific and the Atlantic for service on the Western Front.

In June, the Czech expedition was attacked by the Bolsheviks and part of it cut off from Siberia. 15-000 men got through, the remaining 25,000 started on a long and epic campaign to fight their way through which lasted the greater part of the next year. part of the next year.

It was primarily to aid these Czech forces that the U. S. Government decided on August 3, 1918, to send troops to Siberia.

At about the same time other Al-lied countries also decided to participate in this operation. The Japanese were the first to have troops on the spot and they furnished the largest contingent of any of the Allies. The Expeditionary Army also comprised British, French, Canadian, Italian, Roumanian, Polish, and Russian troops besides the U. S. and Czech forces.

As soon as the U. S. had decided to join the expedition, the 27th and 31st Infantry Regiments were or-dered to proceed to Vladivostok from the Philippines. These units were accompanied by Ordnance, Quartermaster, Medical, and Hos-pital detachments.

The first of these regiments landed in Siberia on August 15, 1918, the second on August 21st. Also about 8,000 men were sent from Camp Fremont, near San Francisco to fill out the complement of these regiments.

At the request of the Provisional White Russian Government which had its seat in Vladivostok, the so-called Russian Railway Service Corps was organized. It was composed of American engineers. These were assigned to the fourteen sec-tors into which the railroad was divided.

To protect the railroad the Allied military commanders were asked to provide troops. Some of the U.S. troops were assigned to that part of the railroad near Vladivostok, others took over a section more than 2,000 miles inland near Verkhne-Udinsk where the 27th Regiment had its headquarters.

These first U. S. Troops in Siberia were without any organized postal service for six or seven weeks. A small amount of mail seems to have been sent out during this period by private arrangement. Some of it was taken out on Japan-ese merchant vessels and placed in the mails in Japan. Some was sent to San Francisco on some sort of boat, as we have seen a letter

In the meantime steps were being taken to provide a regular postal service. We have been fortunate enough to be able to established a stability with a server of the stability with a server of the se lish communication with several of the men who were associated with this postal service.

The first of these is Lester K. Ade who was the original base censor at Vladivostok. His name appears on several of the base censor stamps to be found on covers. Mr. Ade has not been able to give us much fresh information, but he did enable us to communicate with Stephen A. Cisler who as a representative of the Post Office Department established and had charge of the Postal Agency in Siberia. Mr. Cisler has very generously sup-lied us with a number of valuable bits of information.

The Postal Agency in Siberia was established by the following order:

September 12, 1918

Postmaster General Order No.

Pursuant to section 4021, Revised Statutes (sec. 1468, Post-al Laws and Regulations), a Mail Agency is hereby established at Vladivostok, Siberia, Russia, or such other port in Russia as may be more convenient, for conducting the postal service in connection with the United States Expeditionary Forces in Russia to be known as the United States Mail Agency, in Russia (Siberia) and Stephen A. Cisler is appointed as Postal Agent in charge.

As soon as he had received this order, Mr. Cisler set out for Siberia where he arrived on October 1. That he lost no time in establishing the base post office in Vladivostok is attested by the fact that the

Mr. Cisler says that he took this hand stamp with him from took this hand stamp with him from the United States. After several weeks a rubber hand stamp made especially for the Siberian Agency arrived (Fig. 2). sion of cancelled money orders from each of these branches which are stamped Station 2, and Station

Mr. Cisler seems to recall that each branch had its own identifying post mark. We are rather inclined to doubt this, since no such postmark has ever been reported. The possibility is not ruled out,

The possibility is not ruled out, however, so here is something for collectors to watch for.

Mr. Cisler also says that the mail cars that ran over the Trans-Siberian Railroad several times a week used R. P. O. hand stamp postmarks to cancel mail. No expenses of these hard hard properties. amples of these have been reported either. The use of these R. P. O. hand stamps is not improbable. They would most likely have been used to cancel mail going from one unit to another along the railroad. Little if any such mail would be preserved and brought back to the United States.

When it is remembered that only one example has been found of an one example has been found of an R. P. O. postmark used in France by the A. E. that someone will be lucky enough to find a Trans-Siberian R. P. O. postmark on cover.

The U. S. troops were withdrawn from Siberia in the spring of 1920. By May 1, nearly all had gone, but Mr. Cisler did not close the post office until July 10. The Post Office Department, lagging far behind the accomplished fact, did not officially abolish the Agency until much later, as is shown by the following or-

With reference to order No. 2004 of September 12, 1918 it is bereby ordered that the United States Mail (Postal) Agency at Vladivostok, Siberia, Russia, is discontinued effective this date.

NAVAL PARTICIPATION

To the writer's knowledge, nothing has appeared in print regarding the participation of the U. S. Navy in the Siberian operation. The fol-lowing authoritative statement on this subject has been received from the Director of Naval Records and Library in Washington: "From March 1918 until April 1920 the Asiatic Fleet cooperated with the Japanese and other Allied forces in the Far East. The flagship or some other vessels of the Fleet were almost constantly at Vladivostok protecting American interests.

"The USS Brooklyn, flagship of Admiral Austin M. Knight, arrived at Vladivostok March 1, 1918, and remained there until after the arrival of U. S. troops in August. She rival of U. S. troops in August. She left that place October 9 but returned December 23 with Admiral W. L. Rogers who had relieved Admiral Knight. She served as station ship until April 2, 1919, when she was relieved by the USS Albany, which was subsequently replaced by the USS New Orleans.

"Admiral Albert Gleaves arrived at Vladivostok in the USS South Dakota on January 12, 1920, as relief for Admiral Rogers who left that place in the Brooklyn on December 8, 1919. During this period on more than one occasion mar-vent destruction and preserve order.

"The evacuation of U. S. troops from Siberia began January 20, 1920, and was completed April 2, when General Graves and his staff sailed for Manila."

The above statement makes no mention of the U. S. Army Transports that carried troops to and from Vladivostok.

Only two naval covers from Siberia are known to the writer, one, from the USS New Orleans is dated August 8, 1919; the other, from the USS Albany is dated January 20, 1829 uary 20, 1920.

Since it is very probable that some naval covers from Siberia can be identified only by the date in their postmark, it is hoped that the above information will aid in such identification.

There was a civilian post office the Russian Provisional Govern-ment functioning in Vladivostok during and after the Allied Occupa-tion. A good many covers have been seen from private and commercial letters that passed through this post office and usually bear a Russian censor stamp.

Mail from U. S. Red Cross workers who stayed on after the Occu-pation also bears evidence of simi-lar handling. This article is not concerned with the civilian postal history of Siberia of this period.

The writer knows of the existence of about 800 covers from U. S. troops in Siberia and he has examined about a quarter of these. No doubt additional covers will come to light from time to time. The commoner types of these covers are not nearly as scarce as is often alleged.

The value placed on them is frequently considerably above their true worth established by supply and demand. On the other hand, there are certain types of covers and markings that are genuinely scarce. In fact there are a few which up to the present time seem to be unique.

A few covers have come to the writer's attention that are of such special interest that it is believed worth while to give the following

1) From an American Y. M. C. A. man with the A.E.F. in Siberia.
Post card dated Vladivostok, January 1920. uary 9, 1920. Bears three Russian stamps postmarked Vladivostok, date not decipherable. Also bears censor hand stamp in Russian reading Examined-Vladivostok-by Russian Censor-No. 3. It would seem that, contrary to regulations, the sender placed this card in the Rus-sian civilian mail. There is no indication of how, when or where it arrived in this country.

2) Cover from U. S. Army lieutenant dated August 30, 1918. Russian stamps. Postmark looks like Tsuruga, Japan. Also a paquebot marking. No U. S. military censor mark. No U. S. postal system had yet been established in Siberia. Letter probably smuggled out on a Jap anese merchant vessel.

3) Commercial cover with U. S. five cent stamp. Postmarked Sambor, Poland. Clearly dated January 18, 1921. Bears an A.E.F. Siberia censor mark. Looks as if someone among the Polish troops in Siberia had taken this censor stamp home with him. Maybe he did a little looting and secured some U. S. stamps at the same time. Who has botton avalantion? a better explanation?

In preparing this article the writer has been aided by the generous cooperation of a number of people who have permitted him to examine postal material in their colamine postal material in their collections or who have furnished him useful information. It is a great pleasure to have this occasion to thank the following for such services: Lester K. Ade, Stephen A. Cisler, Mario Colaiezzi, Maxwell Halpern, M. Hertzberg, Frank J. Billig Revises Fourth Handbook

Volume IV of these outstanding specialist reference books, the Bill-ig Philatelic Handbooks, has been released in a revised edition. This one is definitely a product for the Australian fan for two-thirds of its contents are devoted to that nation.

Given is a printing of the "Specialized Catalogue of the Commonwealth of Australia", compiled and illustrated by William H. Buckley, librarian and expertizer of the Society of Australian Specialists.

A thorough detailed listing with splendid illustrative matter is applied to the following sections: The Kangaroo Issues; The Engraved Issues; King George V Issues; The Ordinary and Pictorial Non-Com-memorative Issues; The Commemorative and Special Issues; The Airmail Issues; The Postage Due Issues; The Official Stamps (sub-divided by issues); Essays; and Historical and Official First Flights

What should be of special appeal to the user is the giving of a catalog price not only for the major variety, but for the many sub-var-ieties. This pricing seems to be a bit more realistic than that generally found in such works.

Also in this Fourth edition revised, are 20 pages of illustrations and descriptive information of pictorial cancellations of the 19th century, and 32 pages devoted to "The Stamps and Postmarks of the Io-nian Islands 19th Century" by Jere Hess Barr.

Selling price is $4.00 from the publisher Fritz Billig, 168-39 Highland Ave., Jamaica 32, N.Y.

Specialized Swiss Catalog Published

Switzerland's stamp issues have always been among the world's most popular for many good rea-sons. It is only fitting then, that the stamps be matched with a catalog of equal quality.

Such a book is the "Switzerland-Liechstenstein 1953" Specialized Liechstenstein 1953" Specialized Catalog produced and edited by Edwin Mueller, Aeschenvorstadt 21, Basel, Switzerland. Selling price is 2 Swiss Francs.

With its specialized treatment of the postage stamps and related postal material of the two coun-tries the book is an indispensible tool for both the enjoyment and the correct appreciation not supplied in the general catalogs.

Varieties from normal are well described or illustrated in clear pictures. Most stamps are priced in block, mint and used condition, while for each issue is given the important data in connection with

This 240 page book contains over 800 illustrations. In its 22nd edition the current one has 1060 price alterations to conform with tions on the Swiss market.

While the text is in German, the index, terms of sale and explanation of marks are given in English. An elementary knowledge of German will see a prospective user through most reading.

SOME ITEMS SOLD OUT OTHERS GOING FAST

Because of ever increasing costs and excessively high prices we are going to discontinue the greater part of our line of Philatelic Products. We have been contemplating this move for the past year or more for various reasons, among which are the ever soaring prices on merchandise of this character. Prices that have become so high that we almost feel ashamed of having to ask such prices for material. Also we feel that we can best devote our entire energies to the production and promotion of Linn's Weekly Stamp News which has grown to be considered by many as the leading American Philatelic Publication.

ALL OTHER ITEMS TO BE DISCONTINUED

All other items as listed below will be discontinued when present stock is sold. Much of this material is very desirable and at the new sacrifice prices we suggest that any who need pages or supplies will order as much as they can use at once. The cat prices on many of the items are for less than we can replenish our stock. Prices have advanced on some items to the point where if we should continue them we would have to advance the price to a much higher figure than heretofore, so we are closing out at prices lower than we could have for again. This is your opportunity. ORDER NOW

Germany, And Spain's Civil War Al Halpern

Perhaps the most forgotten war—philatelically, that is—of modern world history is the Spanish Revolution that broke out in July, 1936, and lasted till April, 1939.

The rebels, under General Francisco Franco, realized that by their own unaided efforts they could not achieve a swift, decisive victory over communism; and in order to make that victory sure, they sought military aid of the totalitarian governments of Italy and Germany. Both countries, eager to see Franco's fascism emerge victorious, promised such aid and kept their promises by sending into Spain regular army troops, especially air corps men.

The group of forces sent by Hitler to aid Franco was called the "Condor Legion" and was made up of some of Germany's crack fighting men. The Spanish cover shown here, specially cancelled at General Franco's headquarters, is cacheted in honor of Marshall Hermann Goering, "soul" of the Condor Legion. Tied to the cover is one of the first issues of Franco's Nationalist Government, Scott No. 627.

A special cancellation that was used in Hamburg on May 31, 1939, to welcome the return of the victorious "Condor Legion" from Spain is shown on the German post-card. The card was made up as a souvenir of the occasion and the picture side shows a portrait of General Franco. The stamp used is Scott's No. B137, issued by Germany in honor of Hitler's 50th birthday.

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY

Lawyer - Songwriter

Born in Carroll County, Md. 1779—died in 1843. He studied law and practiced in Frederick and Georgetown (now part of Washington, D.C.)—but he offered his service when the War of 1812 broke out.

While on a mission to obtain exchange of an American prisoner held by the British fleet, he was detained on board while said British bombarded Fort McHenry, key to the Baltimore defense, on the night of September 13, 1814. They say he stood all night on deck, watching the explosion of cannon, and at sight of the American flag still flying over the fort on the morning of the 14th, he wrote the verses of THE STAR-SPANGLED BANNER.

First scribbled on an envelope, later in the day it was printed on hand bills and distributed through Baltimore; then it was published While on a mission to obtain that excitment and the war were over, Mr. Key went back to his law practice.

Although we have been singing it for years, the song did not become our National Anthem until so provided by Congress in 1931. The music was written by JOHN STAFFORD SMITH (1750-1836).

Revaluing Die First Seen At Norfolk Meet

To mark the high spot of a convention gathering replete with un-usual features, collectors were sur-prised to discover that a revalued air mail envelope with new design-ed overprint was on sale at the special convention station estab-lished at the Hotel Monticello for the 29th Annual Convention of the American Air Mail Society held at Norfolk, Va.

The new envelope had been announced more than a week earlier by a dispatch from Washington advising that the Department was about to utilize the Pitney-Bowes Tickometer for the additional revaluing of remaining stocks of 5c air mail envelopes on hand at certain of the larger post offices.
Collectors will recall that

Collectors will recall that the stock of 5c envelops was originally revalue 1 with a design imprinted to the left of the impressed air mail stamp reading "Revalued - 6c - P.O.Dept." in three lines. The 6c numeral was quite tall and narrow and its outlines were filled with comes betapled disgraph lined.

cross-hatched diagonal lines.
This revaluing die in time proved unsatisfactory and the Department decided to substitute a rubber hub bearing a wider numeral of solid characteristics eliminating the previous cross-hatching.

While it may well turn out that some other office had these envel-opes on sale prior to August 29, at this writing it is believed that the first release of these envelopes was through the Convention Station of the American Air Mail Society at Norfolk.

A large and enthusiastic group of collectors attended the three day meeting of the Society which was held over the Labor Day week end. No less than eight of the nine living Past Presidents of the Society, whose tenure of office dated back over a period of twenty-nine years, were present at Norfolk. In addition distinguished visitors included Robert E. Fellers, Assistant Executive Director, Bureau of Finance, Post Office Department who represent-ed Postmaster General Donaldson, and who delivered the address prepared for delivery by Hon. Osbo A. Pearson, whose resignation from the Department was effective the same date. Also present from Washington was Robert S. Burgess, Director of Air Service, Bureau of Transportation, Post Office Depart-ment, whose attendance marked his first public appearance at a gather-ing of this kind following a series of illnesses. Hon. Bertil A. Renborg. Chief of the United Nations Postal Administration, was on hand representing that Administration.

A limited number of the newly released envelopes were postmarked first day and held by the So ciety for those collectors who might want them and who might otherwise not be able to receive them. A pair of the covers, one unused and one canceled first day, may be secured as long as they last by sending 25c to John J. Smith, Ferndale and Emerson Sts., Philadelphia. Pa.
